

I am opposed to NPRM-10740.

This petition appears, in my opinion, to be based upon some petty personal grievance(s) in reaction to isolated instances of questionable operating practices by a handful of amateur licensees on only one or two frequencies.

Consequently, such a rulemaking would be totally without merit.

It should also be pointed out that recent warning letters from the commission's own enforcement division have been sent to various operators, citing operation with excessive bandwidth.

It is clear that any of the petitioners' examples of the stated problem can more expeditiously be handled by the enforcement division, citing existing rules, as already demonstrated within the past few months.
